Warner's Safe Cure.

Alderman Stubig Gratefully Tells How This Wonderful Medicine Cured

"14 Roscoe Boulevard, Chicago, Oct. 19, 1909.—Gentlemen: About two years ago I had one foot in the grave, as the saying goes, and life looked pretty black to me; the doctors called it Bright's Disease. I would give all I had to be curred, but nothing seemed to do me much good until a neighbor recommended that I try Warner's Safe Cur: It was with but little hope that I tried it, but within two weeks my general health was improved and in four months I was completely cured. I hardly dared to believe that such good fortune was mine, but I have not lost a meal nor had an ache or pain since. Words seem but poor to express my gratitude, Yours truly.

PEOPLE CROWD THE CITIES

Large Places.

RURAL DISTRICTS MAKE SLOW GROWTH

Greatest Expansion is in North Where Thirty-Four Per Cent of Inhabitants Live in Cities.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 .- The director of the census today gave out a statement regarding the growth of urban population north and south, which shows these facts:

north and south, which shows these facts:

The large cities, taken collectively, are growing nearly twice as rapidly as the rest of the country; the per cent of the population of northern states living in large cities is nearly three times as great as the corresponding period in the south; the north has a rate of increase no greater than that of the south. The cities in the north are growing much faster than those of the same size in the south, but that this difference is balanced by an extremely rapid growth of small towns and cities in the south and especially by the high rate of increase of southern rural population. The statement says these results seem paradoxical, but are correct.

Director Merriam's statement is designed

Director Merriam's statement is designed to explain how the deduction that the south, for the first time, is now growing for baled straw and a large number of as rapidly as the north, harmonizes with them are balling straw, which they are the well known facts that in the north the selling for $5 per ton on board cars. Sevproportion of inhabitants living in cities eral carloads have been shipped from this is much larger than it is in the south, and that as a rule cities increase in population more rapidly than in country districts.

The statement shows that in the north the proportion of population living in large cities is more than three times as great as it is in the south.

Tends Toward Congestion.

The population living in cities of over 25,000 inhabitants increased 41.10 per cent between 1890 and 1900, partly by the growth of the 124 cities of that size in 1890 and of great excitement the wife of J. K. Coe, partly by the addition during the following editor of the News, took lodine by mistake ten years of thirty-six other cities to the

The population of the country outside these cities increased between 1890 and 1900 14.9 per cent. The 190 cities of the United States, each of which had over 20,000 inhabitants in 1900, increased in population 32.5 per cent between 1890 and 1900. The rest of the United States, including Alaska and the recent insular accessions, increased 17.9 per cent.

Of the total population of 75,994,575 in continental United States, 19,718,312, or 25.9 per cent, live in cities of 25,000 inhabitants or more. The proportion of inhabitants of the three sections, north, south and west, into which the census divides the United States, follows:

Greatest Growth in North. North, total population, 47,379,699; population of cities of 25,000 or more, 16,196,580, South, total population, 24,523,527; cities of 25,000 or more, 2,488,553, or 10 per cent. West, 4,091,349; cities of 25,000 or more,

1,033,179, or 25 per cent. The per cent of increase of population living in places of sizes indicated from 1890 to 1900 by sections, follows: In cities of 25,000 and over, north, 42.2;

south, 31.0; west, 47.3; in United States, In cities of 8,000 to 25,000, north, 22.7; south, 26.9; west, 17.9; in United States,

In cities of 4,000 to 8,000, north, 27.6; south, 87.3; west, 50.7; in United States, Incorporated places of less than 4,000;

orth, 27.9; south, 44.4; west, United States, 33.0. Rural, north, 1.2; south, 17.9; west, 22; in United States, 9.4.

The figures, concluding the statement, show that the present growth of population is a resultant in the north of a very rapid growth of large cities, a slower growth of small cities and a very slight growth in the country, and a resultant in the south of a rate of growth of large cities below the average for the country, balanced by a striking growth of small cities and an increase of rural population twice as fast as he average for the United States.

York Wants New Postoffice.

YORK, Neb., Jan. 18 .- (Special.) -- Congressman Stark has introduced a bill asking for an appropriation for a government building at York. York wants a government postoffice building. It is the second largest city in the Fourth congressional district and, according to the last census made the largest growth of any city in Nebraska, excepting South Omaha. The citizens of York hope Congressman Stark. Senators Dietrich and Millard will make an extra effort to pull the bill through. For over two years past the receipts of the York postoffice have exceeded the amount necessary to justify free mail delivery. The government inspector was here over a year ago and requested that street signs be placed in proper position and the houses numbered. All of this was done and evidence sent in. This has been pigeonholed. If Congressman Stark and Senators Dietrich and Miller will call this up York will secure free mail delivery, to which it has been entitled for the past two years.

MANY ACCIDENTS AT BRYANT Injuries to Citizens Occur During the Past

of a physician. A little boy had a pitchfork run into his ear while he was at play near where some men were unloading hay. The physician in charge hopes to save his hearing.

Henry Pura was another victim, and he ame near being blown to atoms by the accidental discharge of a gun. The gun was being carried in a hayrack and had partly slipped through the bottom, when Pura took it by the muzzle and in drawing it up the trigger caught and the gun was discharged. The man's clothes were torn from his right side and set on fire. Several shot entered the fleshy part of his cheek, and, passing over the cheek bone, came out at the roots of the hair. The fire was at once extinguished and he escaped with no other injury.

ROOT SAYS BUY FRIAR LANDS

HOLDINGS CAUSE OF SERIOUS DISCONTENT

Arouse Bitter Hatred Not Equalled Ireland-Declares Religious Controversy is Not Involved.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 .- Secretary Root was heard on the question of the friar lands in the Philippines before the house committee on insular affairs today. He said these land holdings cause one of the chief causes of discontent among the people. They had furnished Aguinaldo's chief appeal to popular prejudice. The secretary said the religious orders so fully recognized the bad condition of affairs that they were disposed to sell out and he urged that the government take advantage of the opportunity to remove the chief not believe condemnation proceedings would be necessary, as there were indications that a fair price could be agreed upon A rough estimate of the value of the lands,

Secretary Root began his statement by explaining the enormous power which the religious orders had long exercised in the Philippines. They were represented at Madrid, and the archbishop was quite as powerful as the governor general of the islands. The orders had largely supplanted the native priests. As a result of the great political power of the orders the friars became the medium of communication be tween the local parishes and the central government. They held large tracts of the best land, amounting to about 400,000 acres at the time of American occupation. The people rented the lands, and thus a landlord and tenant system was now in operation. This caused intense hatred and, Mr. Root said, the feeling of the tenant class was not equalled in bitterness by anything in Ireland. Aguinaldo had taken advantage of this intense feeling of the tenants against the friar landlords and the movement had become very popular. Will Settle Agitation. The secretary said that about the most important thing to be done at this time was to dispose of the friar question, as it was felt that when landed proprietorship was brought to an end most of the agitation would be disposed of. The friars had been driven from the land in many cases, he said, and if they returned the people would kill them. Appeals had been made to the War department to collect the rents due, but the secretary said this could not be done without the use of

Mr. Root said that no religious question was involved, as it was simply a condition that existed and was fully recognized. The friars themselves were so fully alive to the conditions that they would doubtless be ready to dispose of their lands. At all events, Mr. Root said, they were part of an organization, and he apprehended that the lisposition of the lands would be disposed of by higher church authorities than the friars themselves.
